Question IV. The passage below contains 5 mistakes (question 46-50). Find out the mistakes and correct them. Write the correct answers on your answer sheet.

It is difficult to write rules that tell exactly when we should apologize, but it is not difficult to learn what. If we have done something to hurt someone's feelings, or if we have been impolite or rude, we should apologize. An apology indicates that we have done a mistake and we are sorry for it. It is a way of expressing our regret for something. When we apologize, we admit ⁵our wrongdoing, usually offer a reason why for it, and express regret.

The simplest way to apologize is to say, "I'm sorry", but often that is not enough. Let's take a common situation. Mario is late and enters the classroom, interrupting the teacher in the middle of the lesson. What does he do? The most politeness action is usually to take a seat as quietly as possible and apologize later. Naturally, more than this is needed, but this is not the ¹⁰time for it because of he has already caused one interruption and doesn't need to make it any longer.

47	3	done	made
