VI. Read the following passage, then answer the questions according to the information given in the passage. (5 pts)

All the tea in the world originally came from China. When drinking Chinese tea with a meal, it is usual to refill other people's cup before your own. Each time someone pours some tea for you, it is polite to thank the person pouring it. It is very rude not to drink some tea each time it is served.

When requesting your teapot to be filled in a Chinese restaurant, you should remove the lid and place it on the edge of the teapot. The waiter will then see it and get you some fresh tea. There is an interesting story of how this custom came about. A teacher brought his favorite pet bird with him to a tea house one winter's day. After finishing his pot of tea he put the bird in the covered teapot to keep it warm. A waiter did not see that a bird was inside the pot and refilled the pot with hot water. Sadly, the bird died. From then on, it was said you had to remove the lid when you wanted some more tea. This was a sure sign that the pot was really empty.
