• Make a decision to reduce, recycl	e, and reuse.
Reduce waste by buying (3)	products. Don't forget	to recycle plastics, gla	ss, and paper products. You may wish to reuse some of your old	items to help out, too.	Take unneeded items to	o a recycling center.
• Plant trees.
Plants and trees are nature's lungs. T	They (4) the ox	ygen we breathe. They	also can shade your home, thus making it cooler so you don't ne	eed to run your air con	ditioners as much.
• Buy local goods.
When you buy goods imported from	far-away places, it tak	es a lot of energy to (5	) them to your area.
This means that if you don't buy loca	al food and products, the	hen more emissions of	carbon dioxide will happen
during the transportation (6)

DEI	FINING AND ACH	HEVING GOALS
One personal (1) goal that	many people set for the	hemselves is "I want t	to learn a new language." The problem with this is that learning a lan	nguage can be a lifelon	g task. Phrased this way	y, the goal is too (2) and too long-term, plus it does not define	how you will know th	nat you have achieved t	the goal.
Step 1: Break the goal into smaller	, achievable steps.
To start with, choose a (3)s	hort-term goal, for exa	ample, "I want to take	a basic Spanish class" or "My English is quite good, but I want to b	e able to tell jokes in I	English."
Step 2: Define how you are going t	o achieve Step 1.
Will you join a class or (4)	on an online course?	Will you teach yourse	elf at home? Will you listen to English comedians on YouTube?
Step 3: Define how you will know to	that you have achieve	d your goal.
You need to know that you have ach	ieved your first, small	goal before moving or	n to setting the next goal. How will you do this? Will you know that	you have succeeded w	hen you pass a test or c	omplete a course, or manage to make somebody laugh when you tell	a joke? Define what yo	our (5) for succ	ess will be before you set out to achieve that goal.
Step 4: Once your first small goal	has been achieved, yo	u can set the next one	à
Follow and repeat Steps 1 to 3 as often	en as needed until you a	achieve your big goal.	This way you program yourself for success instead of (6)!

	LEAVING DIGIT	TAL FOOTPRINTS
Your history of surfing the Inter	rnet can matter to compa	anies because they war	nt to send you (1) for things they want you to buy. But apart	from businesses, there	are other (2) w	hy your digital footprint should matter to you.
1. Showing others who you ar	e
If people get information about	you, they might pick bit	s and then (3)	you are good - or bad. For example, one day you write something sil	ly online. Years later, it's	s found by the universi	ty you're applying to, and they don't think it's funny. Consequently,	they may decide you're	not the 'right' kind of p	person for them.
2. Keeping your information	private
Everyone has information about	t themselves that they do	on't want everyone to l	know, but the Internet doesn't make the same (4) that you w	ould.
3. Keeping your money safe
There are plenty of people look	ing at information about	t you. Some of them w	ant to (5) from you, but the less information you put out, the	e harder it is for them. Ba	ank (6), card m	umbers, passwords, none of them should be written in emails or to	ext messages.

		O IN A CRISIS 505
Whenever you face a stressful s	ituation, your brain send	ds alarm (1) to	your body and causes your heart to beat faster and your muscles to t	ense in (2 ) for in	mmediate action. How	ever, this reaction can often prevent us from thinking clearly about t	he best thing to do.
A good skill you can develop is	s the (3) to reac	t calmly in a crisis. By	being aware of your body's stress response and training yourself	to ignore that initial flo	od of emotions, you c	an make decisions based on clear-headed analysis.
• Remember to breathe – this is	easy to forget when you	are (4) or enra	iged. And breathe deeply! A calmer body helps create a calmer mine	d.
