PART 5 READING (10 questions)Read part of a website article about computer technology. Write ONE suitable word in each space. (5 questions)

In 1965, a computer engineer called Gordon Moore said, 'The number of items in a computer chip will double every year.' In other words, chips will become more and more powerful while, at the same time, becoming smaller and smaller. Ten years later, he changed the doubling time (23) _____ every four years. For the next 45 years, his idea proved to be correct, so people now call it Moore's Law. Although some people say the speed of change (24) _____ lower now, as a result of Moore's Law, the power of modern computers is unbelievable. One example will show this.

Apollo 11 was the American spacecraft (25) _____ took astronauts to the Moon and back in 1969. It is clear that the computer on this spacecraft (26) _____ able to do a lot of very difficult things. However, it had a lot less power than your present smartphone! Your phone has at least one million times more RAM than the spacecraft had. It also works at a speed which is 100,000 times (27) _____ than Apollo 11's computer.

So if you can find someone to program your phone for a trip to the Moon and back, all you will need to make the trip then is a spacecraft!

Read the website article about teenagers and choose the best answer for each question. (5 questions)

What do teenagers need? Perhaps the most important thing is enough sleep. Between the ages of 13 and 19, our brains and bodies change a lot. Sleep helps those changes to happen, so teenagers need more sleep than 12-year-olds. Teens sometimes sleep for 11 or 12 hours on the weekend, but scientists say about nine hours is the correct amount, up from about eight hours at a younger age.

Unfortunately, teenagers cannot normally go to sleep before 11 p.m. because of the changes in their bodies. In most countries, they then have to get up most of the year at 6.00 or 7.00 to be in time for school. It would be better if high schools in countries around the world started at 11.00 or 12.00, but they do not, so parents must find other ways to make sure their teenagers get enough sleep.

Firstly, teenagers could sleep for half an hour as soon as they get home or after dinner. This is better than letting them sleep late on the weekend. If a teenager wakes up at a later time on two days a week, it will be much harder to go back to the earlier time on school days.

Secondly, teenagers should not use laptops or cell phones late in the evening for games or social media. The light from these devices makes it harder for the body to feel tired.

Questions:

28. What is the right amount of sleep for a 14-year-old?

A. 8 hours

B. 9 hours

C. 11 hours

D. 12 hours

29. According to the article, how much sleep does the average teenager get during the week?

B. 7 hours

C. 8 hours

D. 7 or 8 hours

30. In the second paragraph, they means _____.

A. all schools

B. high schools

C. teenagers

D. countries

31. What does this mean in the third paragraph?

- A. Sleeping for half an hour B. Half an hour C. Home D. Sleeping after dinner

32. What happens to teenagers if they use an electronic device late in the evening?

- A. They spend too long on social media. B. They play games late into the night. C. They don't want to turn the device off. D. The screen light stops the body getting ready for sleep.
